KEY TO THE PLATES.

NOTE.—For purposes of comparison, an asterisk is affixed to names in cases where the engraving does not precisely correspond with the blazon as given in the text. [See note at p. 1, Part I.] In cases where a crest is absolutely accurate as regards one or more families of a particular name, while it may vary slightly (in colour lines, for example) from another family of the same name, the name is not repeated with an asterisk; therefore, when it is desired to ascertain the precise blazons for various families of the same name, reference should be made to the text under the particular surname required.

DICTIONARY

OF

HERALDIC TERMS AND SUBJECTS

USED OR MENTIONED IN THIS BOOK.

ACC

ACORN. plate 152
ACORNED, bearing acorns. 151. 3
ADDORSED, ADOSSÉD, or ADOSSÉE, placed back to back. see 72. 8; 140. 1; 109. 12; 98. 13
AFFRONTÉE, full faced. 7. 2; 23. 8
ALLERION, an eagle displayed, but without beak or claws.
ALPACA. see 125. 2
ANCHOR. plate 161
ANGEL. see plates 183, 184, 189
ANNULET, a plain ring. see 2. 9; 115. 5; 167. 11
ANTELOPE, an animal of the deer kind, with two straight taper horns. plates 126, 127
ANTELOPE, HERALDIC, a fabulous animal, with the body of a stag and the tail of a unicorn, and having a tusk at the tip of the nose, tufts down the back part of the neck, and on the tail, chest, and thighs. see 127. 7; 127. 9
APAUMÉE, a term applied to the hand when the palm is visible and opened. see 222. 5, 8, 14
ARCHER. 188. 9; and see plates 185, 186, 187
ARGENT, silver, usually represented and considered as white; and when engraved the surface is left plain.
ARM. This, and also the hand, occurs in many positions in Heraldry, particularly amongst Crests (see plates 194 to 224). The various positions are as follows:—
Arm “embowed,” 202. 2. [It should be mentioned whether the fist be clenched or the hand apaumée, unless holding something.] When the elbow points the reverse way it is “embowed to the sinister” (204. 13).

Arm “embowed fesseways” or “embowed and resting upon the elbow” (202. 13).

Arm embowed fesseways the part above the elbow lying upon the wreath and the part below the elbow in pale (98. 11)

Two arms counter embowed (200. 8).

Two arms embowed in saltire (200. 5).

A cubit arm is couped just below the elbow (see 213. 10; or 214. 13), being slightly shorter than an arm couped at the elbow, and a little longer than a hand couped below the wrist (214. 10). When “in bend,” a cubit arm is in the position as shown in 208. 14; and when “fesseways,” as in 221. 9, The hand should be couped at the wrist. It must be stated whether dexter (222. 14), or sinister (222. 9), and if open, as these, is termed apaumée; and any other position of the fingers must be specially mentioned.

All arms, when bare, are termed ppr., but may be in all the foregoing positions when vested (204. 5; 205. 3), or in armour (195. 2). When vested, the cuff must be mentioned if of a different tincture, and if the hand be not bare it is known as “gloved.” When in armour, the hand must be mentioned as proper or in a gauntlet. An arm may be habited in leaves (198. 1), in chain mail (198. 2), or in scale armour (199. 2). An arm in armour may be garnished—i.e., with the edges and rivets of a different colour—and is sometimes termed vambraced.

When two hands clasp each other they are known as conjoined. (224. 2)

ARMED, a term used when the horns, teeth of any beast, and the beak or claws, tusks, or talons of any bird, are in colour different from the body; it is then said to be armed of that colour.

ARMED, occasionally used to mean in armour.

ARROW. 173. 5

ASS. See plate 125.

ASSURGENT, rising out of the sea.

ASTROLABE, an instrument for taking the altitude of the sun or stars. 167. 7

ATTIRED, a term used when the antlers or horns of a stag, hart, buck, or antelope are mentioned as of a different colour.

ATTIRES, the horns of a stag. 123. 5

ATTIRES, affixed to the scalp. see plate 123. 2, 3

AXE.

AYLET, a Sea Swallow, or Cornish-chough, 107. 5 and 14

AZURE, blue; represented when engraved by parallel horizontal lines. see 15. 2

B

BADGER, or BROCK. 33. 10

BALL, FIRE-. See GRENADE.

BAND, the fillet or bandage, by which a garb, a sheaf of arrows, etc., are bound.

BANDED, when the band of a garb, etc., is of a colour different from the garb itself, it is said to be banded, and the colour described.

BANNER. see plate 176

BAR, a straight horizontal band. see 59. 12; 14. 9

- BARBED, a term used when referring to the five green leaves on the outside of a full-blown rose which are the barbs. 149. 2
- BARBED AND FLIGHTED, a term applied to an arrow when the head and feathers differ in tincture from the shaft.
- BAR-GEMELLE, a double bar, or two narrow bars placed near and parallel to each other. see 128. 10
- BARNACLE, a water-fowl resembling a goose.
- BARRULET, a diminutive of the bar—one half its width.
- BARRULY, divided into several equal parts fessways, each part being the width of a barrulet.
- BARRY, transversely divided into several equal parts fessways, of two or more tinctures interchangeably disposed; the number of divisions usually specified as barry of six, eight, ten, or twelve. 12. 3
- BASE, the lower part.
- BASILISK, a fabulous creature like the cockatrice, but with the head of a dragon at the end of its tail.
- BAT. 137. 11
- BATON, a staff or truncheon. see 200. 3; 15. 9
- BATTLE-AXE. 172. 3
- BATTLEMENTS, the upper works of a castle or tower. see 50. 4
- BEACON, a fire-beacon, used as a signal. 177. 14
- BEAK, the bill of a bird; in birds of prey when with the claws of another colour termed armed.
- BEAKED, birds are termed beaked when the bills are of a different tincture from their bodies. see 88. 13
- BEAR. plates 34 and 35
- BEARS' PAWS. See 36. 6. See under LIONS' GAMBS.
- BEAVER. see 134. 8
- BEEES and BEEHIVES. plate 137.
- BELL. See CHURCH-BELL and HAWK'S BELL.
- BELLED, a term applied to the hawk or falcon when both legs have bells upon them, 85. 5. If the word be not used in the blazon, the bird will carry only one bell, and that on the sinister leg.
- BEND. See PER BEND.
- BEND, one of the nine ordinaries; it occupies one-third part of the field or crest, and is drawn diagonally from the dexter chief to the sinister base. see 8. 7; 120. 11
- BENDLET, a diminutive of the bend of one-half its breadth. see 60. 10; 66. 12
- BEND SINISTER, IN, placed in the opposite position to bendways. The swords in 170. 6, in 170. 4, and in 195. 1 are all in bend sinister.
- BENDWAYS, obliquely, or in bend. see 170. 5
- BENDY, divided into an equal number of pieces in a slanting direction from the dexter chief to the sinister base. see 40. 3; 84. 8; 206. 7; 207. 2
- BEZANT, a flat circular piece of gold, supposed to represent the gold coin of that name. See ROUNDEL. see 11. 7; 27. 8; 31. 3; 54. 4; 57. 1.
- BEZANTÉE, semée of, or strewn with bezants. See SEMÉE. see 13. 1; 71. 6; 73. 6; 97. 3.
- BIBLE. See BOOK.
- BILLET, an elongated rectangular figure. see 45. 6; 215. 11, 13
- BILLETÉE, semée of billets. See SEMÉE. see 56. 5; 126. 4
- BILLING, a term applied to birds when looking at each other and with the beaks joining. 93. 2
- BISHOP'S MITRE. See MITRE.
- BITTERN, a bird of the heron family. see 104. 3
- BLACKAMoor with bow and arrow. 185. 6
- BLACKAMOORS' HEADS. plate 182. 2, 4, 7; 191. 3, 4, 5; 192. 4, 6, 7, 13
- BLACKBIRD. 106. 2
- BLADED, a term used when the stalk or blade of grain is shown upon the ear, or when of a tincture different from the ear or fruit; thus an ear of wheat or., bladed vert. 154. 3
- BLAZON (n), the heraldic description, in words, of a coat-of-arms or crest; (v) to heraldically describe in words. To represent in colour is to emblazon. To outline only, labelling the colours, is to trick.
- BOAR. plate 40
- BOARS' HEADS, couped or erased "close" (42. 2; 43. 1), are almost without exception the only forms of the head used in Scotland and Wales, and consequently the additional and descriptive term used above is more often omitted than not. When blazoned "erect," it is shewn as in 43. 3. When a coronet takes the place of a wreath this form of head must be blazoned as upon the coronet (and not issuing from it), and shewn as 42. 11. The head with the neck, as 41. 5, is supposed to be the more general form for English crests, but there is no hard and fast rule that can be observed as to this, for both forms occur; though for distinctive reasons words "and neck" are often added.
- BOAT. 179. 6
- BONE. see 147. 4
- BOOK. see plates 158, 215
- BOOT. 193. 12; 194. 4
- BOUGET. See WATER BOUGET.
- BOW. See CROSS-BOW.
- Bow should really be always blazoned, either as strung, unstrung, or sans strings, but in the first case this is often omitted (see 173. 12; 198. 9; 188. 9; 200. 2), though in the two latter instances the words "shooting an arrow from a bow," or "pulling an arrow to its head," are required.
- BOY, naked. see 189. 6; 189. 12
- BOY'S HEAD. see 182. 11
- BRIDGE. The number of the arches will usually be stated. see 158. 4
- BRISTLED, a term used for the hair on the neck and back of the boar, when it differs in tincture.
- BROAD-ARROW differs from the pheon by having the inside of the barbs plain.
- BROCK. See BADGER.
- BUCKLER, a term used for a shield.
- BUCKLES are borne of various forms, oval, round, square, and lozenge-shaped. The position of the tongue should be stated. see 178. 5; 34. 11
- BUFFALO. 45. 10
- BUGLE, a kind of ox. [The Editor believes the term with this meaning only occurs once within these volumes.]
- BUGLE-HORNS are usually stringed, gar-
- nished, and veruled, and frequently of different colours (see 228. 11), but when not so they must be blazoned as "sans strings." 228. 9
- BULLS and BULLS' HEADS. see plates 43, 44, 45
- BULL'S LEG. 123. 4 and 7
- BUSTARD, a kind of wild turkey, of a brownish colour. 102. 9

C

- CABLE, a rope affixed to an anchor. see 161. 2
- CABLED, an anchor is so termed when borne with a cable entwined round the stock. see 161. 2
- CABOSSED, a term applied to animals having horns, when the face is affrontée and the head is couped so closely behind the ears that no part of the neck is visible. see 43. 8, 9; 122. 4, 5, 8; 130. 7
- CADUCEUS, Rod of Esculapius or Staff of MERCURY, a slender winged staff, entwined by two serpents, the heads meeting at the top, and the tails at the base of the handle, and winged at the summit. see 171. 1 and 3; 224. 14.
- CALTRAP, or GALTRAP, an instrument anciently used in war to wound the horses' feet, having four points, so that when placed on the ground, one point was always erect; and in heraldic art this frequently depicted as bloody, when it is termed "embued at the point." see 174. 14
- CAMELEOPARD or CAMELOPARD, the heraldic name of the giraffe, which was stated by writers of early days to be a hybrid between the camel and leopard. see 132. 8
- CAMELS, and CAMELS' HEADS. plate 132
- CANNON, see 187. 8; 169. 12, which latter, however, should properly be blazoned as a "cannon mounted."
- CAP, COLLEGIATE. 180. 9
- CAP OF LIBERTY, always red but of very rare occurrence. 224. 14
- CAP OF MERCURY or winged cap. see 171. 1
- CAP OF DIGNITY or MAINTENANCE, more usually known as a Chapeau, when proper is a flat cap of crimson velvet, lined and turned up with ermine, originally and of right appertaining to ducal rank. It is borne by many families below the crest in place of a wreath (see plate 4. 2, 5, 8). It is occasionally of other colours, as shewn in 15. 12.
- CAP, PHYSICIAN'S. 180. 7
- CAP, STEEL. See MORION. plate 132
- CAPARISONED, a term applied to horses when furnished with trappings, but which has no very definite meaning. It is usually employed in conjunction with the word "bridled"—e.g. 52. 13—which is blazoned "upon a ducal coronet, a horse passant, saddled, bridled and caparisoned all ppr."
- CASTLE IN FLAMES. see 155. 1
- CASTLES have always two towers, joined by an intervening wall; when the cement is different in colour from the stones, it is said to be masoned of that particular colour; if the loopholes and portway are of a different colour they must be so

blazoned; they are supposed to be then closed. see TOWER. 155. 2 and 6
CAT, generally understood to be the wild or mountain cat.
CATHERINE WHEEL.
CENTAUR or SAGITTARIUS, a fabulous figure composed of the upper part of a man, and the lower part of a horse, usually (though not always) represented with a bow and arrow. The latter named, however, could hardly be applied to the figure if the bow and arrow be omitted. 53. 2
CHALICE, a communion cup. see CUP.
CHAPEAU, a cap, hat, or bonnet. see CAP OF DIGNITY.
CHAPLET, a garland, or wreath of flowers, laurel, olive, oak, etc. 175. 13; 202. 4

CORONET. Coronets, apart from those of the different members of the Royal Family, which vary according to the degree of relationship to the Sovereign, are as follows:—
 1. The "Ducal coronet" of heraldry, sometimes termed a "Cinier" or crest coronet, when depicted is shewn as 16. 2, and unless stated to be otherwise, has only three leaves visible. The coronet of a duke is similar in shape, but has five leaves.
 2. The coronet of a Marquess. see 203. 2
 3. The coronet of an Earl. see 182. 2
 4. The coronet of a Viscount. see 179. 9
 5. The coronet of a Baron. see 16. 6
 The above illustrations shew the respective coronets as when used with crests issuing therefrom and forming an unchangeable part of the crest: but when used as coronets of rank, they must never be shewn without the cap belonging. [Foreign coronets are exceptions to this.] see 217. 3
 No coronets (except in a few exceptional cases) require a wreath below them.
 The following coronets are also used in heraldry.
 6. Mural coronet. 16. 5
 7. Naval coronet, composed alternately of the sails and stems of ships. 16. 9; 204. 2
 8. Eastern coronet. 206. 2
